The Class Secretaries

No finer service is rendered the College by its graduates than that which is performed by the secretaries of the graduating classes in connection with the class-letter Budgets. It is no easy task for a secretary to keep in regular correspondence with the members of her class as they scatter over the world, to gather and arrange their letters in one collection, which they call "the Budget", and have them duplicated and circulated in this form among all the members of the class. This entails a great deal of work and takes a great deal of time, but it is a labour of love; and there is no better way to preserve and disseminate the T.B.C. spirit and fellowship.

The pioneer in this good work was Miss Minnie Pitman of the class of 1913. For nearly thirty years now she has been carrying on this method of keeping the students of her time in touch with one another and with the College. We had the privilege of going through the Budget which she sent last month to Miss Soper in Peru. We found that her list of correspondents, even after all these years, comprises twelve in Canada, nine in the United States, four in Africa, three in China, and two in South America. Among the letters was one from a board secretary of a great denomination in Canada, another from a member of the editorial staff of a metropolitan daily paper, another from the superintendent of a large city hospital in the United States. One of the most interesting letters was from the minister of a church in Abraham Lincoln's home-town, who thinks he has at last found the place where he will retire for the rest of his life.

No secretary has devoted herself to this work with more enthusiasm than Miss Bessie Locke of the class of 1926. The Budget which she compiled and sent out at the turn of the year was a remarkable document. It contained references to forty-nine graduates of her time; and about each of them, like Paul in his Epistles, she had something special and distinctive to say. It also contained fourteen long extracts from the letters she had received. Among the graduates with whom she corresponds are thirty-two missionaries, scattered through Africa, India, China, and South America.

One of the most faithful class secretaries is Miss Erma Selman of 1928. Her work has been the more difficult because she has had to carry it on from her home in a distant Ontario town. Yet she has been circulating several Budgets each year. Her last Christmas one contained twenty letters and notes about five other members of her class.

The classes that have graduated during the last twelve years, since the College moved up to the present site, have grown so large that the work of these secretaries has greatly increased. Yet they carry it on with the same patient zeal. Some of the Budgets which they turn out are monuments of industry and devotion. One of them, whose home is in the State of Massachusetts, gets her class letters out in printed form.

Copies of these class Budgets come to our office, and are always read with great interest. They keep us in touch with our far-flung family and show us what our graduates are doing for the cause of Christ in the world. There are few parts of the world where they have not gone, and scarcely any form of Christian service in which they are not occupied. A recent Budget of the class of 1936 contained a letter from Tel-Aviv in Palestine, the only solidly Jewish city on the face of the earth.

The members of the various classes should recognize the value and importance of the work of their secretaries, and give them prompt and loyal support. It not only helps to maintain the unity of the T.B.C. family scattered abroad, but it also helps to strengthen the hands of those who carry on the work of the College at the centre. All things are being shaken in the present shaking of the nations, and we must all prepare for a future that will be very different from the past. As time goes on the Alumni of the College will need to undertake a larger share of its support. In two years we shall be celebrating the Jubilee of the Bible College. By that time we should know what the new conditions are to be, and we should be prepared to enter them with a renewed trust in the Lord, and a renewed dedication to the purpose for which He has used the institution in the past.

The Alumni Looks Forward

For the past decade, the Alumni Association has pursued a policy of keeping its members informed of the outstanding events in College life, the doings of its members throughout the world and the plans of the Board of Governors for the maintenance and expansion of the College ministry. This has been done through the pages of the Recorder, through the letters sent from the Secretary's office and by means of the conferences held in various sections of the province.

Being a voluntary group of workers, and having to carry on their regular work from day to day, the members of the Alumni executive have not been as free to move about in the constituency as they have desired. Nevertheless, a progressive work has been carried on which has resulted in new interest in the College. This has revealed itself in a concrete way in the givings of the Alumni members to the support of the school which are ten times what they were ten years ago.

During this period the entire structure of the Alumni organization has been reviewed and strengthened; records of permanent value have been properly filed; preparations for the issue of a second Alumni catalogue have been made; and plans projected for a fitting contribution to be made by the Alumni to the Jubilee of the College which will be observed in September 1944. In other words, the Alumni has been taking, what appears to its executive to be, a more worthy part in the affairs of the College.

At a recent executive meeting it was agreed to further advance preparations for the Jubilee services by preparing specialized lists of graduates, by arranging for certain exhibits which will fittingly visualize the growth of the College and by formulating tentative plans for conferences to be conducted during Jubilee week.

At the same meeting, the executive received a communication from the Board of Governors suggesting that the Alumni set as its annual objective for College maintenance the amount of four thousand dollars. After careful consideration, the executive agreed that the amount to be aimed at should be five thousand dollars ($5,000.00). In 1941, the Alumni members contributed slightly over $2,000.00 and this was the largest amount contributed in any one year with the one exception of 1929 when over $10,000.00 was raised to provide furnishings for the new building.

The executive desires to call attention to this new and challenging task and to invite the co-operation of all members in helping to reach it. It is desirable that we should overtake the major portion of this amount annually before the Jubilee. In fact, we are hoping that 1944 will see the objective reached, that is, for the calendar year 1944 the Alumni shall provide the amount of $5,000.00 for regular College support and continue each year thereafter to do the same. This is approximately one-seventh of the annual budget of the College and is an objective which should be easily attained if each member the world over will take the matter to heart. It is the regular multiplication of smaller gifts that we ask and to this the Alumni can respond. Give monthly, or quarterly or annually as your circumstances warrant. All these ways are now being used by Alumni members already giving regularly. We ask you to add your name to this list by planning now to send your gifts. Make provision for the College in your plan of stewardship and help your Alumni executive to reach the goal set for it by the Jubilee year—1944.

The Alumni Secretary has visited a number of the churches over which graduates preside as pastors. A partial list follows:

In these churches he found fine congregations, a positive Gospel ministry and a fine appreciation of the spiritual challenge of the times through which we are passing. Not only was there a fine standard of preaching but the men, without exception, had the shepherd heart and were out in their communities after the unchurched and the indifferent. Most of the congregations had fine groups of young people who were busily engaged in various forms of Christian service. The College has been noted for its continuous contribution to the foreign mission fields of the world. Do our readers and friends realize the valuable contribution being made by our graduates to the evangelization of our great Dominion?

Our Graduates

In the Fall of 1941, one of our graduates left Toronto for the Far North. A friend of hers jokingly said that she had gone into "cold storage" for four years! She had been appointed by the W.M.S. of the Church of England in Canada, as Matron of St. Luke's Hospital at Pangnirtung, Baffin Land, to which place mail, supplies, and travellers can go only once a year.

Miss Grace Reeves, who graduated in April, 1941, had offered herself for missionary work in her Church, was accepted and then appointed to this lonely outpost. On August 1st the train took her from Toronto to Churchill, which is the end of the steel on Hudson Bay. She then went by S.S. "Mascopie", which is the Hudson Bay Company's ice breaker, to Pangnirtung. She did not arrive there until September 21st, for this boat journey is rather an extended one, as the ship calls at the most northerly ports first, and on her return trip to Churchill, calls at Pangnirtung. She was the only missionary aboard the steamer, the other passengers being officials of the government, mounted police, wireless operators and Hudson Bay Company agents.

At Pangnirtung, she would find the Reverend Arthur and Mrs. Turner and child, two nurses, Miss Hocken and Miss Keary. There is a government doctor in residence at the settlement. St. Luke's, where Miss Reeves is matron, is a 24-bed hospital with a nurses' and matron's residence attached. It is a very welcome sight in that cold North Country, for it is a centre of great blessing, both physical and spiritual, to those northern people. This hospital was built in 1930, but the Mission is one of the earliest in the North and was founded first on an island in the bay that skirts Baffin Land.

This large and far-reaching diocese of two and a quarter million square miles (including one and a quarter million square miles of land), whose people are Indian, Eskimo and white, of whom ninety per cent are nomads, is under the able jurisdiction of the Right Reverend A. L. Fleming, who is the Bishop in charge of this great Church work beyond the Arctic Circle. Bishop Fleming travels throughout his diocese in the Summer, holding special services in the various churches. He has his cathedral at Aklavik.

Miss Grace Reeves needs the prayers and thoughts of her friends. About the middle of June of this year, letters and magazines should be addressed to her:

"Matron, St. Luke's Hospital, Pangnirtung, Baffin Land, c/o General P.O., Montreal, Que. (July 1)".

These leave early in July, from Montreal, and will reach her in September, at her lonely outpost.

A Graduate's "Mite!"

A Graduate, whose name must not be divulged, came into the office of the College a few weeks ago for a personal interview. After she had talked over her affairs and we had had a pleasant time of fellowship, she asked for a pen. Opening her bag, she took out a cheque book and proceeded to write. The amount she wrote on the cheque, to be a gift to the College, seemed to be too good to believe, for one knew her financial position did not warrant such self-sacrifice.

Here was an example of a devoted Christian young woman who had been earning a weekly wage in the home of friends, really doing sacrificial work, for there was a large family to care for, now willing and ready to give her savings of probably over a very long period to her Alma Mater. One felt urged to constrain her sacrificial zeal, for $100.00 must have been almost like a fortune to her.

Her conviction that this gift must be offered for the Lord's work in the College arose out of her gratitude for what God had done for her while she was in the College and for its influence upon her life afterwards.

There are other members of the Alumni who are living sacrificial lives both at home and abroad, and are receiving untold blessing in their souls as a reward.

"The Lord loveth a cheerful giver". If we count our blessings, we realize that nothing is too good or too great to give to the Lord. F. G. V.
